Dear Ms. Brown:

Your letter of August 31, 1988, addressed to William Webster at the Federal Bureau of Investigation has only now arrived at the Central Intelligence Agency. For your information, William H. Webster is presently the Director of Central Intelligence.

You invited Judge Webster to speak to the American Whig-Cliosophic Society. Your records should reflect that on October 4, 1979, he spoke before your organization as Director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. You might want to consider inviting the present Director of the FBI, William S. Sessions. His correct address is:

The Honorable William S. Sessions
Director
Federal Bureau of Investigation
Washington, D.C. 20535

Sincerely yours,

Administrative Assistant to the DCI

Dear Mr. Webster:

On behalf of the 228-year old American Whig-Cllosophic Society, I would like to invite you to speak at Princeton University this fall as part of our 1988 Speakers Series. Your name has been mentioned repeatably as an ideal speaker for this series, and our members and the entire University community would be honored to host you.

We are confidant that speaking at Princeton will hold several benefits for you, most notably an educated audience eager to hear your views on any topic you might wish to discuss. Princeton's location -- an hour away from New York and Philiadelphia and less than four hours from Washington -- offers you extensive possibilities for media exposure, if desired, and, further, makes it likely that you will be in the vicinity and will be able to get to and from campus with minimum inconvenience.

We very much hope you will accept this invitation and continue a tradition of great speakers at Princeton. Of course, the Society will assume all of your expenses and is prepared to make any special arrangements which might make your visit more enjoyable.

Please contact me at the Princeton University address above to set a convenient date for your visit or if you have any questions.

I look forward to hearing from you and hopefully making arrangements for you to speak at Princeton. Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Denise Elizabeth Brown
